

Oh, Politicians

What a country we live in,
We can count on one thing for sure,
Our politicians never tell the truth,
They are rotten to the core.

The Democrat will promise,
To take from the rich and give to the poor.
It's a stupid statement, it doesn't happen.
Has anyone kept score?

The Republican will give us jobs,
To help us along our way.
But the rich get richer and the poor just keep,
Hoping for a better day.

Everyone should be able to pay their way.
Everything should not be free.
But we need the chance and we're not getting it,
We're having some very lousy days.

Don't tell me you're a uniter,
And point your finger at me.
I need hope, not despair.
It would be nice if you really cared.

Could a man or a woman really be elected,
If they told the truth that everything could not be free?
Would they even reach the primaries?
They'd probably be rejected.

But none will take that position,
So we settle for less.
We have too long elected,
None of the best.
